THE HERD PARLIAMENT,

The Second Day of the Great Cattle Convention.

Committees Named for the Different Branches of the Work.

A Forecast of the Material of the Me morial to Congress-What the Delegates are Doing-The Promenade Concert To-Night-The Tanners' Na-

The second day of the great Cattle Convention was ushered in with snow and gusty winds, begin ning the winter and the assembly almost together at the hotels last night and this morning there was constant acti vity; causease were held by the different delegations, and the final touches put upon the work to be presented to the convention. It became more evident has night and to-day that the serious division in the convention would come upon the question of quarantie. One of the Texas delegates, indeed, told a reporter of the Poer-Disarven that the quarantie question of quarantine question of quarantine question was the real issue behind the National Trail, and that Texas hoved to meet the desire of the trail and thus, at any rate, until it can be seen how the trail will work, put to one side against tion for quarantine laws. The delegates from Vyoning, Montana, and the North generally, on the catter of quarantine strongly. In the causes held has night is smalter was a thacused and the was of paramounts strongly. In the causes held has night is smalter was a thacused and the was of paramounts importance and that the question should be brought before the convention is such a shape that an expression would be foreed.

The Northern men seem to be even more interested in quarantine natter than in the leasing of the public lands, and they will insist very strongly to keep out dangerous capite. The monorial, from all sources of information attainable will contain three main heads. The National Trail, of which Kanasa can urre, either upon health or other grounds. To the adverse Kanasa delegates that the position of the Poer-Disparcy, will be the first of these, meet all the objections which Kanasa can urre, either upon health or other grounds. To this end the Southern delegates are concentrating their labors, and they are very sanguine of success, meet all the objections which Kanasa can urre, either upon health or other grounds. To this end the Southern delegates are concentrating their labors, and they are southed the successary legislation. To this end to the proposition that the Federal covernment should leave for long terms the unoccurrent of the Golden of ment addressed. The second master, which all agree will be found in the memorial, will be the proposition that the Federal Government should lease for long terms the unoccupied public lands in the cattle country for grazing purposes. The promoters of this idea have very nearly brought their desire into its definite and ultimate shape. They want Congress to make a law which will permit the leasing of lands to associations representing all the cattle growers in a given section. These mea themselves shall have power to apportion to the number of heads of cattle owned by each. They are anxious that Congress should take all the necessary precautions it may deem necessary to protect the individual cattle grower, and at the same time prevent any one grower form faking up water to the seclusion of others.

It is still a question as to what the convention will recommend as to quarantine head in the memorial. The Northern beef raisers say that if the trail is established that there will be up carrilly necessity for quarantine against cattle coming from whether there will be a quarantine, but it is not a question order. The Northern beef raisers say that if the rail is established that there will be no earthly need to quarantine against cattle coming from its South, as they cannot bring the Spanish fever. But they cannot bring the Spanish fever, But they cannot bring the Spanish fever at protection from the pleuro-pneumonia, which are protection from the pleuro-pneumonia, which are freet a lodgment in the herds om the East. This is the danger lick Wyoming and Montana fear most, and ainst which they are chiefly desirous of protection. They will probably agree upon a resolution tick will express closely the fealure of the same of the finest looking men from the Lone Star State. He says the thing that Texas is chiefly interested in is the trial.

THE CONLENTION.

The second day's work of the National Convention of Cattlemen was begun at 1931 this morning. Chairman Reinwater amounced that the Citzens' Executive Committee of St. Louis had invited delegates to a grand promenade concert this evening at the Merchants' Exchange. John Finn was appointed sergeant at-arms. The Chair then announced the Committees on Credentials, Permanento Organization and Resolutions, consisting of one delegate each for each association represented in the convention, and one from each State and Territory.

This is the first convention on record, with a large delegation of crooks are in the city for the purpose of doing their share in making everything go of smoothly and pleasantly.

one delegate each for each association represented in the convention, and one from each State and Territory.

Mr. Carey of Wyoming Territory desired to say that, while the Wyoming Cattle Association represented more cattle and money than any other on the floor, it was not fairly represented on the committees, having only one rote on each, while other much weaker associations had as many as ten, the was not asking anything on behalf of its association. At the same time he wanted it known that it was formed of fourteen minor associations, each of which was as large as some of the other State associations.

Mr. Stewart of Montana said that one vote in each of the committees was enough for his Territory.

The Chair announced that, inasmuch as the ConThe Chair announced that, inasmuch as the Con-of the delegates. The list had not been completed at 8 o'clock when the convention met.

The promenade concert at the Merchants' Exchange this eventing in honor of the stockmen will begin at 8 o'clock. The programme of music to be rendered by the Arsenal band will be as published in the Post-Dis-PATCH last evening, and will consist of nine of their cholest selections. Signor Liberati, the cornet virtuoso, will also play three numbers.

In order that all the visiting cattlemen may be sure of a welcome, cards of invitation have been sent out by the Reception Committee of the Exchange, which will be prized not only for the hearty invitation they convey, but also for the timely suggestiveness of the meat design, which is the work of the Stephens Lithographing and Engraving Company of 211 Washington avenue. Above the written request, which is printed from raised plates, is a device that could not be made more appropriate for the occasion. A Texas steer's head stands out in bold relief above a shield which is emblasoned with the national stars and stripes. Through the shield extends a graceful pair of horas which are entwined with beautiful and delicate scroll work. The card taken as an entirely is an honor to giver, receiver and maker. The cards are a good example of the artistic excellence attained in printing in the West, and are very much sought atter as come in case any man or set of men feets a summent degree of interest to assume the cost and annoyance of such a proceeding. It is a well-known fact that the lawyers, not only of this city but of the State at large, felt a deep interest in the success of the constitutional amendment which provides for an extension of the jurisdiction of the The white hats have everything their own way creation of a like court for the western half of the during this week. State. Fearing that through ignorance or apathy the majority of the voters of the State might allow the amendment to go by default, a number of the ror its salvation. They agreed upon what was a very ingenious device, providing the result be allowed to stand. Their plan was to induce the Democratic State Committee to frame the State ticket so as to favor the amendment. A delegation of the lawyers waited upon that body, and requested that the ballot, so far as the constitutional amendments were concerned, should read thus:

For Second Constitutional Amendment: Yes. For Second Constitutional Amendment: No.

For First constitutional Amendment: Yes.

For Second Constitutional Amendment: No.

It will be seen that such a ba'lot is readymade for the voter who desires to favor the first or judicial "amendment, while no choice is suggested to him as to the second, or read-tax amendment. The theory on which this plan was proposed was that, even if a voter was opposed to the judicial amendment, he would think that scratching out the line "For first constitutional smendment—Yes" he was voting against it, whereas such erasure would only amount to no vote at all, it being necessary to write a positive "No" on the ballot in order to make it count negatively. The State Committee gave the legal committee a hearing, and then determined that it would not be the proper thing to adopt the suggestion, as each County Committee ought to be left to print the tickets in such a manner as they saw fit. The lawyers, however, were not discouraged, and pressure was brought to bear upon the committees all over the State to induce them to print the tickets in the form described. Blany of the committees refused, but here in St. Louis, and in all the counties where the administration influence is strong, the plan was adopted. The ballots which read favorably to the judicial amendment numbered 143.000, which, although much less than one-half of the total vote, was a trifle larger number than that of the ballots marked or printed "For first constitutional amendment—No." An analysis of the vote of the State shows very conclusivel that a large number of voters who used Democratic ballots scratched off the line "For First Constitutional Amendment—No." An analysis of the vote of the State shows very conclusivel that a large number of voters who used Democratic ballots scratched off the line "For First Constitutional Amendment—Yes," supposing that by so doing they were voting against it.

Hence they are taking advantage of that rule of the committee which makes it incumbent on the chairman to assemble that body whenever requested so to do by seven membera. The request for a called meeting was circuiated among the statesmen at the Court House, Four Courts and City Hall this morning, and quickly received more than the number of signatures required by the rules, the signing being attended with numerous ejaculaliations of a profane character. In circulating among, the members this morning a Post-Disparch reporter found in addition to those mentioned vesterday as insisting upon a reorganization of the committee, the following: Henry Ehlert, Deputy Sheriff, and that there was no question but that the proposition to reorganize would carry by a large majority. Wm. Watters, Deputy Jailer, said he had not been taking muce interest in pointies, but from information received he would certainly vote for reorganization if the question came up.

A. J. Davis is in full sympathy with Mr. Oberbeck in the last proposition.

Thomas C. Martin was not in his office, but he is quoted as being in favor of a new deal. Nick Karr is put down in the same category.

In fact, every committeeman thus far seen has taken an anti-rollman position. The main cause for this general opposition has already been stated, but there are other causes. A great many of the committeeman, it will be noted, are either warm personal friends or subordinates of Sheriff Mason who is a candidate for the collectorship. As Mr. Mason's deputies have much to hope for in case he secures the position of collector, they are naturally opposed to any man acting as chairman of the committee, who is bimself a candidate, or who is liable to use his position to give the nomination to some third person in his own interest. Mr. Mason's friends in the committee, there were support, of course, of Mr. Hudson's friends in the committee have the sympathy and support, of course, of Mr. Hudson's friends and of the friends of any other candidate whose interests could be injured by the success of Mr. Fohlman's schemes. A man named Alexan'er was brought into the city to-day by the Wabash train from Hancock, Pulaski County, suffering from a broken ankle. Commissioner Charlie Francis did not take long to find out that the man was brought to the city on a pass and that he was unloaded here in accordance with a time honored practice of the interior to fois its sick off upon the city whenever an opportunity offers. Accordingly the Health Department instructed Dr. Dean at the Hospital to keep an account of the man's stay in order that his sojourn at the Hospital night be charged up to the Wabash Railway at the rate of 65 cents a day.

Progress of the Trial.—Examination of Witnesses Begun.

Washington, D. C., November 18.—The Swaim court-martial began its session to-day with the formal rending of the charges and specifications upon which General Swaim is to be tried. There was some little difficulty in following the reading of the charges about the proposed examination of Mr. Parker, one of the witnesses, out of the regular order, in the course of which the Judge Advocate, having stated that he proposed to examine the witness in the same manner as he had been examined before the Court of Inquiry, General Grosvenor, of counsel for the defense, interrupted him with the remark, "I don't think you will examine him that way without SOME MUSIC."

and afterwards, referring to the testimony given was largely before the Court of Inquiry, said it by Parker the testimony of General Pope, president of that Court, and not of the witness. An agreement was finally reached by which Parker was allowed to testify out of the regular order of the defense, reserving the right to object to recording any portion of his testimony. Parker, on being sworn, testified to having obtained possession of the Bateman due bill, which plays so conspicuous a part in this case, from Humphreys, for whom it had been indorsed by General Swaim. He identified this due bill.

Farish, his attorney, his official bond for the approval of the court. All the Circuit Judges sat on the bench except Judge Adams, who was engaged in the trial of a case. The bond was in the penal sum of $50,000, with Henry F. Harrington as principal and the following sureties: Charles Green, Thomas F. Hayden, John Loler, Daniel Cahill, William Pickel, Jos. W. Branch, John Sheehan, Patrick Burns, Patrick Sheehan, F. Arendes, George Pickel, and Chas. B. Stevens. All the sureties were present and examined by the court, except the last three. The court said the bond was sufficient, but it would be necessary to have their affidavits before the bond could be formally approved.Mr.Farish said that he could comply with this within a day or so. It is not expected Mr. Harrington will take charge of the office before Decomber 1.

THE COLD POTATOE CLUB.

How an Election Bet Was Pleasantly Settled Around a Dinner Table.

The Cold Potato Club, an offspring of the hot campaign times of last summer, composed of sixteen well-known citizens of decided political opinions who were equally divided between Cleveland and Bisine, settled their election bet to-day, a dimer . having been wagered on the general result. The gentlemen who sat down at Butler's Cafe to enjoy the gratuitous spread, were the following Democrats: J. N. Farquharson, J. B. Legg. General F. G. Lawrance, Judge Daniel Dillon, W. S. George, Hubbard Field, T. A. Russell, J. D. Gibson, while those who took part as hosts and as discomfitted followers of the white plume were the following Republicans, who footed the bill: Col. J. O. Churchill, Dr. J. H. McIntyre, W. B. Harris, J. M. Jordan, Mr. Hengerford, Maj. C. M. Whitney, J. H. Johnston, Mr. Meyer, To commemorate the occasion still more enduringly, a magnificent basket of flowers was sent to the Fosr-Disparce of Cleveland's plurality in New York.

The Stockmen's Opportunity.

While the stockmen are in the city they will probably look around for a good place to obtain supplies. In doing so they should by all means visit the largest saddlery manufactory in the West—that of Haydens & Allen. They have an establishment at 512 N. Main street, and besides occupy almost a square at 116-120 S. Seventeenth street. Cattlemen and dealers in supplies can find no better place to obtain saddles, bridles, harness, all-leather stirrups, oiled stock saddles and other articles.

It is expected that they will be received in time to be presented to the visitors who may call at the local office during the continuance of the Cattle Convention. Should the beef-growers come to realize the benefits of the system and the many ways it would diminish risks, there is no question that the field of the Signal Service would be considerably broadened.

WE wish that speech-making and red badges and banquets could bring the cattle trade to St. Louis, but we do not believe they can do it.

SPEECHMAKING is a good thing, and dinner are good things; but business is business, and we should like to see St. Louis corral the cattle trade or know the reason why.

St. Louis is nearer to the cattle region, St. Louis is a better point for resting, feeding, and trans-shipping cattle than Chicago is, but Chicago gets the cattle and St. Louis gets left.

YESTERDAY'S session of the Cattle Convention was a great success. Poor old Chicago has only a side-show of live stock. Receipts of cattle yesterday: St. Louis, 2,000 head; Chicago, 8,000 head. Poor old Chicago!

Dorsey evidently doesn't think well of EL-KINS, ELKINS despises FIELD and the New York millionaires, the New York millionaires despise St. John, Blaine says it was preache BURCHARD who did it, and the grand old party threatens to indulge in a Kilkenny fight:

While 293,000 voters of both parties scratched the "Yes," only 187,000 took care to write in the "No," and the amendment is adopted. It work and Play of the Unique would have been rejected as overwhelmingly as the other amendment had it appeared on the ballots with the same "Yee" and "No" attachment. The success of this little trick enable Governor CRITTENDEN to begin his race for Congress in the Kansas City District with three Appellate Judgeships at his sole disposal.

THE CATTLE INTERESTS.

Inasmuch as the cattle men have not yet fully decided what they want it is rather prenature to pass upon their programme. It is not settled that they want the free trail. Conflicting local interests may prevent the convention from adopting that idea. They will probably all concur in asking for quarantine quarantine should be established. There is hardly any possibility of the passage of such a law on this subject as the cattle men would wish. Not only is the settled policy of the Eovernment opposed to granting large tracts of land on any terms to wealthy corporations, but public opinion is even more firmly opposed to it. This sentiment is so strong that the mere appearance of the cattle lobby in Washington would be enough to frighten Congressmen away from the question.

Fortunately the cattle interests can flourish without special legislation. An interest which can enrich so many thousands of investors in so short a time may be regarded as a pretty able-bodied industry, well able to take care of itself. Certainly the cattle kings as they appear in convention look like a set of men who would keep out of the poor house even if no legis-

Major C. C. Rainwater, a sketch of whose appearance in the large horn chair as he presided over the preliminary organization of the Cattle Convention is faithfully given by the Post-Deparch artist, well deserves the position, as he has been the most active in arranging the entertainment for the visitors during their stay in the city. As chairman of the Executive Committee he has acquitted himself with rare tact and skill, and the results of his labors will be appreciated this week by the stockmen. Many have failed, and this has forced out a great deal of sugar at very low prices. Even a war has been going on in this country between the refiners and the importers, which has caused much depression. Fortherly the former purchased their supplies of the latter, but for a year of two past they have gone into the business of importing directly, and this has been gradually crowding out the importers. Several great houses which formerly did large business in importing sugar, scarcely touch the article now. This competition has, of course, prepares to the prepares of the protect of the p

New York, November 18.—Rev. Dr. Justin D.

Fulton, the noted Baptist preacher of Brooklyn, in this city yesterday. The mild-appearing gentlemen were nicely seated and the meeting called to order, and Dr. Fulton stood up to read a-paper on "Our New Opportunity." His first sentence STARTLED THE ASSEMBLAGE.

"There has been a great Presidential struggle," he said, "and the party which represents virtue, mor-ality and liberty has suffered defeat. Why? Because it was afraid of the truth. The Hon. Emory A. Storrs says in the Tribune, that there is no intelligent Democrat who doubts that New York State would not have gone for Blaine were it not for the words of the Rev. Dr. Burchard, in which he counseled all honest, God fearing. Christian men to vote against the party which was identified with Rum, Romanism and Re-

North and South, East and West, the word has gone forth from the Cardinal's palace in New York for Roman 2. Catholics to support James G. Blaine, because he had bowed down to Baal, because his son was married to a Roman Catholic and because his Congress gationalism was only skin deep. No. sir; the reason was married to a Roman Catholic and because he cause he and the leaders of the Republican party were cowardly and Truckling.

They bowed down before a lie; they cast blame upon Dr. Burchard who was no more to blame than the hand upon the wall. Yet the leaders made haste to repudlate him, and by so doing they sent thousands of honest God fearing men, who had felt the truth of Dr. Burchard's words to vote for Cleveland. And so they gave the country to the Democrats."

Dr. Fulton was getting hot. The Republican Moderator, Dr. Morse, grew red in the face, and the brothers moved uneasily in their chairs.

or three sentences, is so abrupt in form as to sound like a demand, and offers no reason or argument why Governor Crittenden should do any such thing. It is whispered about that Messrs. Thoroughman and Vastine have failed of success in their efforts to capture any considerable more of the jurors, and that were it not for this fact the general public would have been let alone. Some of the jurors who have been spoken to gleaned from what was said that there was a reasonable degree of certainty that the pardon was sure to come, providing they all signed the document. The jurors are being canvassed by Messrs. Thoroughman and Vastine, and the merchents by McChesney and Some other friends. The signers have thus far MADE SECRESY A CONDITION of giving their signatures, but in case the pardon is secured they will all be treated to a great surprise, as it is Governor Crittenden's rule when he grants a pardon which is liable to provoke unfavorable comment to state, in connection with his announcement of the pardon, that it is given on the recommendation of certain reputable persons whose names he prints. Another curious fact is, that some of the gendlemen who have signed, or are about to make up their minds to sign, are moved, not by consideration for Mr. McChesney, but by a desire to favor Governor Crittenden, who, it seems to be generally understood, feels that if he is to great the pardon at all, he would like to have a good strong list of names to base it on.

In answer to the statement concerning accommo-dations for those who attend the New Orleans Indations for those who attend the New Orleans Industrial and Cotton Exposition, the Board of Managers state, in a circular, that no one who wishes to attend need have any anxiety about finding comfortable quarters. The Board of Management have organized a department for the express purpose of aiding all visitors to the World's Fair not only in securing accommodations at moderate rates, but in protecting them in every possible way from excessive charges. The rates will of course vary according to the location. Farnished rooms can be had from 75 cents and $30 a month up to $1.50 a day or $40 per month. The best hotels in the city have promised not to advance their rates, the St. Charles Hotel charging su usual $4 per day and the Hotel Royal charging but $1 a day for rooms. The charges of the hotels vary from $2 to $3 a day. These rates will prevail during the entire period of the Exposition.

Two Women and a Man Arrested for

By Telegraph to the Post-Di patch.

Six Livyulla, Li., November 18.—Edward RodFers, Lottle Yarborough and Sophrona Nutt were arrested at Fancher and brought to this city today, chaged with the murder and robbery of Frank Crooks, a furniture dealer, on June 14, last The detectives making the arrests claim that the proof of the guilt of the prisoners is positive. The disabolical crime caused intense excitement at the time, but all efforts to trace the muderers until now were ineffectual.

"THREE OF A KIND."

Laughable Entertainment-The Casin

he was writing for, and, accordingly, sought to give s many opportunities as possible for the display of hose eccentric qualities which make their acting so the necessary dialogue to carry along the plot, re-alizing the wisdom of leaving to Salsbury and his associates the interpolation of the gags, jokes, songs and clever bits of repartee that give such life to the play. Accordingly the barest kind of a plot is con-structed, without any particular merit other than the occasions it offers for the Troubadours' specialty business, and so thinly spread out is the story through three long acts that, after a little condensing, the burden of the tale may be told in a few words. Three clerks in a second-class dry goods store go to Snaggsville for a week's outing. En route they meet a Miss Dollie Dashwood, who is bound for the same place. These, together with the three persons keeping the boarding-house, go through with a good deal of nonsense, in which see-sawing, hammock-swinging and the like figure conspicuously, until the first act is brought to an end bound for the same place. These, together with the sidered suitably simple for the plain scenes presented.

Nate Salsbury, Webster and Davoll are the three bosom friends who go through with the trying scenes of their poverty and manage to derive a good deal of amusement even out of their most objectly miserable circumstances. Webster and Davoll, as Phil Straight and Bob Flush, act as repoussoirs for their leader, Jack Potts, Nate Salsbury. They act up to him, and too much cannot be said of the clever way in which they figure in some of the comic scenes. Davoll gives Indications of a power that he has no opportunity to exercise in the present play. His entertainment of an invisible phantom is a fair one; when the others have monopolized all the ladies, his imitations of tragic book containing $140 from the hand of Mrs. Barret last Thursday evening.

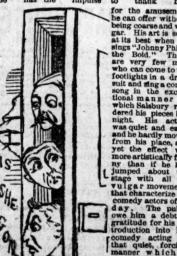

Josh Bucker's residence. 1211 Wash street, was street, entered by burglars last night, who succeeded in making away with a lot of clothing.

The Academy of Science met last night with Dr. Leete presiding. Mr. Robert Moore and M. L. Holman were admitted as members. Discourses were made by Prof. Nipher and Dr. Eno Sander.

The teacher's committee of the School Board met last evening. Several leaves of absence were granted and transfers made. One teacher was withdrawn from the Madison Evening School,

The regular meeting of the Board of Health was held yesterday. The Health Commissioner's report showed that there had been ten deaths during the week just ended; 199 patients in the Female Hospital and two deaths: two patients still remain in the Small-Fox Hospital. There are at present 449 immates in the Insane Asylum and 773 in the Poor House, 414 of the latter being insane patients.

It is bad to see a man in the prime of life suffering to such an extent with Hemorrhoids or Pfles that be occomes a prisoner in an invalid's chair, shut out from all participation in the busy scenes of life, but he can be curred by Tabler's Buckeye Pfle Olntment, at the triffing cost of 50 cents a bottle. White's Cream Vercarityee the best wern-killer.

Miss Minnie Maddern had another good house last night to see her sweetly effective work as Mercy Baxter in "Caprice." The theater public will appreciate that they have in her a rising young actress, who is working hard to make herself a name and who has adopted the very best methods to realize that end. If she continues as she has begun, working hard and faithfully and taking a high standard for her model, she will make her way to the top of the profession and be ranked as a true artiste. Mr. Errol Dunbar, who plays the part of the stern father in "Caprice," deserves notice for his good work. Mr. Dunbar is not unknown to St. Louis people. He came to this city in 1879 from Virginia, and while engaged in business obtained an entree to the best society and became a favorite in social circles. His love for the attention in the collectices. came a favorite in social circles. His jove for the attrical matters showed itself in the interest hook in the McCullouph Club, and for a time he was he most prominent member of 'the society and the est actor on the amateur stage. Since his adopon of a professional career he has played subordite parts with Lawrence Barrett and othrs and he we the leading role in McCullouph Club.

Broadway & Treyser's Dime Museum is offering a special list of attractions. Several of the Greeley relief expedition are now there on a visit, and these together with the other curiosities, amuse the hundreds who daily visit the place.

At the Bazaar entertainment at the Pickwick to-night there will be a set of tableaux for the benefit of the Sisters of Charity. Miss Garneau has had the management of them. The mention of this fact obviates the necessity of predicting a brilliant

Mr. Henry Miller, who plays the part of Jaci Henderson in "Caprice," has a familiar face to St Louis audiences. He played in Ayoung Mrs Winthrop" and in Daly's company when they were here, in "The Passing Regiment" he played the Doctor, the opposite part to Miss May Fielding."

here, in "The Fassing Regiment" he played the Doctor, the opposite part to Miss May Fielding."

The Casino is proving itself daily one of the best vandeville theaters in the country. The bill that is being offered them during this week is of great merit, and the stars who appear are the best that can be had in the country. The theater is a cosylittle place and the management is such as to insure a thoroughly first-class performance.

A grand organ concert at the Mercantile Library Hail in aid of the Good Samaritan Hospital is announced for to night. Prof. A. G. Robyn, Mrs. Georgia Lee-Cunningham. the Mendelsson Quintette Club, and the St. Louis Quartette will all take part in the programme, and offer an entertainment that can't fail to please. A concerted piece, "On the Water," by Mrs. Cunningham and the St. Louis Quartette will be particularly enjoyable.

In a notice in the Saturday papers of the abandoment of the attempt to continue the St. Louis Musical Union, injustice was inadvertently done to the Mercantile Library Hall by saying that people would not patronize it. The only reason why the flusical Union was abandoned, was because the promoters could not get the requisite number of subscribers, and this is chiefly due to the hard times. As a matter of fact all the recent concerts and other entertainments at the Mercantile Library Hall this season have been liberally patronized.

Hall this season have been liberally patronized.

MUSICAL NOTES.

The St Louis Choral Society's regular Monday night rehearsals are interrupted this and next week. None was held last night and none will be held next Monday. The explanation of this unfortunate Interruption lies in rhe fact that the society expected to be able to give the "Etijah," and, accordingly, failed to engage the Pickwick for these two weeks. Saturday night, the 29th inst., the second rehearsal on "The Messiah" will be held, and on December 1 the regular Monday night soirces will be resumed. "The Messiah" will be given on Tuesday night, December 23, in the Exposition Building.

The St Louis musical world will be pleased to hear cember 23, in the Exposition Building.

The St. Louis musical world will be pleased to hear that the old Amphion club, which enjoyed a prosperous existence up to 1872, has this winter been revived under the leadership of Mr. Robert Goldbeck. The club counts about twenty members, who at their weekly meetings rehearse all of the prettiest glee music and the better compositions for male voices. It is very probable that a concent will be given toward the end of the winter. "The Three Fishers" is being renearsed now and will be sung at the concert. Messrs. Doan, Colville, Damer on, and Hazard are among the principal members, and by their personal interest will insure the success of the club.
